MORLEY HAYES GIFT VOUCHERS

Our gift vouchers are available to be used throughout the complex – from dining in the Dovecote Restaurant or Roosters Bar Restaurant, a round of golf, afternoon tea, champagne breakfast, or even a night of luxury in our 4-star hotel.

These can be purchased from our hotel reception or on our online shop, morleyhayes.com

At Morley Hayes we source our food for Roosters Bar as locally as possible especially beef from our farm, meat, vegetables, and honey from our own hives.

Our chefs cook with food which are in season and is reflected on our specials board. Weights are approximate, based on pre-cooked ingredients.

It is the responsibility of the guest to inform our staff of any special dietary requirements. In accordance with legislation we are obliged to inform you if any of our dishes contain certain allergens.

Allergen information relating to all our dishes is available and was correct at the time of printing, however, due to preparation it is not possible to guarantee the total segregation of any allergens.

We rely on the suppliers of our ingredients to update us of any changes they make.

The History of Morley Hayes

Morley Hayes was the original estate farm to the adjacent Morley Manor. The Manor was first mentioned in the year 1002

When the Domesday Book was compiled, the estate belonged to Henry de Ferrers, then in the reign of Henry III to the Abbey of Chester and at the dissolution it was conferred upon Sir William Paget.

On the forfeiture of the Paget estates it was granted by James I to Anthony Roper and from thence passed into the hands of the Sacheverells.

Sir Hugh Sacheverell was fatally injured in Morley Woods whilst returning from hunting at Elvaston Castle. He is buried in the beautiful mausoleum in the grounds of St Mathews Church. Following his death the estate was acquired by the Fitz-Herbert-Wright family, owners of The Butterley Company and builders of St. Pancras Station in London.

Following the sale of the estate, The Manor became an orphanage and the Morley Hayes farm a very successful dairy farm. Morley Hayes farm bred a world famous herd of Fresian cattle, the Feran Herd.

The Allsop family, still the present owners and operators, purchased Morley Hayes in the early 1980's and continued to farm the land until the decline in UK farming.

The decision to diversify led to the construction of the golf courses and restaurant.

Careful restoration work has allowed much of the historic character of the farm to remain. The extension to the Roosters Bar was built out of reclaimed Pennine Stone. This was taken from railway tunnels in Manchester and you can still see soot on a few of the stones near the entrance to Roosters Bar.

The Morley Hayes Hotel was opened in 2005 by HRH The Duke of Gloucester.

A map of the Morley Hayes estate hangs in Roosters Bar.

Morley Hayes is many things – not only a restaurant and bars

If you are celebrating we have some beautiful function suites to party in. All have private bars and a dance floor if required. We can provide buffets, BBQ's and formally seated lunches and dinners.

Morley Hayes is licensed to hold civil ceremonies and weddings. We can offer exclusive use of the whole of our wedding facilities and we also offer outdoor ceremonies, including our Dome Garden, a pretty English garden which provides a lovely setting for your marriage ceremony.

For something a little more rustic, there is the Woodland Lodge – nestled amongst towering pines and English trees it provides a superb environment to exchange your vows and get back to nature.

If you fancy a day away from the office, or a team building event, we offer a full range of conference and meeting facilities.

Our 4-star hotel is amongst the finest in the East Midlands and is fully air-conditioned.

It provides a variety of rooms including luxury suites and a Penthouse.

A complimentary shuttle service is provided for hotel guests between Morley Hayes and DCFC Pride Park Stadium, East Midlands International Airport and Derby Railway Station.

We have two golf courses, a driving range and an academy which provides lessons for beginners and seasoned players. The Tower Café provides refreshment facilities at the driving range.

If you require any further information on our facilities please call the Events Team on 01332 782005 or Morley Hayes Hotel on 01332 780480
